Reference Department Report
Ms. Downing introduced Alene Moroni to the Trustees. She has been at Forbes a little over 2 years, and is the new head of reference as of July 3. She has 20 years of library experience including readers’ advisory and book purchasing. Ms. Moroni acknowledged that she has only been doing the job a short while and that she is continuing many of the projects initiated by Ms. Moss, while also bringing new ideas and asking questions about how and why things are done. Accomplishments for the last year include improved public computer access, a new non-fiction selection plan, the adult summer reading program with 328 books read by 44 participants, support for the outreach program, exam proctoring, notary public, 55,744 reference transactions, 9,754 people attending adult programs, staff presenting to MLA on Twitter for Libraries, staff attendance at BookExpo, and the hiring and use of Smith College work study employees. Ongoing efforts include creating displays, the Reader’s Advisory service, improving the appearance of the fiction and nonfiction collections, computer classes including volunteer drop-in help and tech appointments, integration with the Franklin/Hampshire Career Center to create a service outstation. Challenges include staffing vacancies including the Head of Reference (February-July) and Information Services Librarian (July-present). Departmental funding needs include computer maintenance and software to automate consistent updates, new first floor public computers, graphic design software on Arts & Music public computers, and newer smaller footprint microfilm machines. Mr. Carrier asked Ms. Moroni to prioritize the requests and to get cost estimates, and for Ms. Downing to bring a funding proposal to the Trustees.

Ms. Moroni left the meeting at 4:40 PM.
Administrative Report

Ms. Downing reported that the library applied for a Capacity Grant from the Community Foundation. The grant is for $15,000 for a Self Service Initiative. Ms. Downing said that the grant would be used to purchase self-check-out machines, which would be used to free up staff time for more meaningful service interactions. The goal would be to increase open hours by re-allocating existing staff time. The library will be notified in December.

At their September meeting the Friends of Forbes approved a $10,000 gift to cover Outreach Delivery Expenses for the first half of the next calendar year and anticipated income shortfall for the Book & Media Budget.

On September 13, the bronze bust of Judge Forbes traveled to the Slater Memorial Museum at Norwich Free Academy in Connecticut to join an exhibition on the artist Bela Lyon Pratt. The bust will be returned in January. They decided not to borrow the plaster study of the bust.

The “Modern Real and Surreal” series will kick off its third year on October 11 with a panel speaking on Comics and Graphic Novels. As always, Writer in Residence Naila Moreira has put together an amazing series, which features writers in genres ranging from fiction to nonfiction to poetry. The role of the image in conveying literary themes will be explored, too, in events on comics and graphic novels, film and screenwriting, and nature word-and-image pairings.

In August, Forbes hosted a tour for Susan Fliss who has recently begun as the Dean of Libraries of Smith College and Barbara Polowy, Interim Director of Teaching, Learning and Research. We discussed our organizations historic ties and ways that we might support one another. We are planning to follow up with a tour of Smith library services for Forbes’ staff.

Erica transcribed the letters and assisted staff in starting the process of identifying and researching the people, places and events mentioned in the correspondence. Erica presented her project and the letters to the public on August 17 as part of a monthly series at the library called “Cookies with a Curator.”

The Emily Williston Library in Easthampton deaccessioned several years of Northampton and Easthampton city directories and donated them to Forbes to fill in our collections for volumes that were either missing or in very poor shape. They also donated excess archival supplies. A letter of thanks has been sent to their board.

On August 21, Forbes hosted over 250 people to watch the partial eclipse together. Eclipse glasses and pinhole cameras were shared, and a good time was had by all. We are now collecting used eclipse glasses in partnership with the DPW to send to Astronomers without Borders.
The staff and volunteer appreciation barbecue was held on September 7. There was beautiful weather, delicious food, and fun with presidential trivia. This year there were several retirees, as well as new outreach volunteers and volunteers from the Friends Garden Tour. For FY17, there were 179 volunteers who worked about 5,300 hours. Special thanks to Jason, Frank, Jennie, Jo Ann, Paula and grill master Tex!

The library’s ceiling fans are in the process of being replaced with fans that are bidirectional, quieter and move more air. This project was made possible by a generous anonymous donor and in partnership with the city’s Central Services who is doing the electrical work.

Ms. Hess moved that the Administrative Report be accepted and placed on file. Ms. Wight seconded the motion, which passed unanimously.

Friends of Forbes Meeting
Mr. Twarog attended the September 6 meeting of the Friends of Forbes and reported that Ms. McCormick introduced Ms. Moroni to the Friends. The Friends received exciting news that they have received a bequest of $251,000 from the estate of Kay Burnett, a former music cataloger and librarian at Smith College. This significantly increases the Friends’ endowment and they have created a sub-committee to seek expertise and determine the best approach to using the gift to meet both short and long-term needs. They also discussed the garden tour and upcoming wine tasting. They have updated their donor database, and Ms. Downing talked about the Outreach program. National Friends of Library week is October 15-21, which coincides with the Friends’ membership drive.

FY 2019-2023 Strategic Plan
Ms. Wight presented the FY 2019-2023 strategic plan, which is due to the MBLC by October 1. Mr. Carrier said that Ms. Wight did a spectacular job with the plan. Ms. Wight said she had a lot of help and great input from the community. She said the report will be spiral bound and copies distributed to the Trustees and administrative team. Copies will also be sent to the Mayor and City Council, and Ms. Downing hopes to present it at an upcoming City Council meeting and also to the Friends of Forbes and library staff. Mr. Carrier suggested sending copies to the Daily Hampshire Gazette and Bill Newman. Ms. Downing plans to make a summary 4-page version to keep at the circulation desk for patrons and to distribute at other community locations. She also plans to make a web-based version for the library’s web site, and a PowerPoint presentation.

Ms. Hess made a motion to approve the FY2019-2023 Strategic Plan. Mr. Twarog seconded the motion, which was passed unanimously.

Insurance Review Recommendations
Ms. Downing reported that the new liability insurance carrier, Hanover Insurance Group, made two recommendations after a site visit in June. They were very pleased with Forbes’ practices and only had two recommendations. They recommend including background checks as part of the hiring process for staff with periodic re-checks every few years. They also recommend that volunteers who drive personal vehicles to visit homebound patrons should provide a valid drivers’ license and proof of automobile insurance before being allowed to drive, to be updated annually. The administrative team reviewed them and is in favor of adopting them.

Mr. Twarog made a motion to approve the recommendations of Hanover Insurance Group. Ms. Wight seconded the motion, which was passed unanimously.

Outreach Delivery Service at Lilly Library
Ms. Downing reported that Lilly Library has requested to be a partner in the Outreach Delivery Service that Forbes currently operates. We are already committed to serving patrons in Florence but this designation would formalize that arrangement. Lilly Library has offered to make a financial contribution towards the volunteer coordinator’s stipend of $500. In exchange, the program will be advertised through both libraries along with volunteer and patron recruitment. Ms. Downing said this agreement would allow the program to be better publicized and promoted.

Ms. Hess made a motion to approve the request to include Lilly Library in the Outreach Delivery Service for a contribution of $500 towards the volunteer coordinator’s stipend. Ms. Wight seconded the motion, which was passed unanimously.

Pulaski Day Parade

Archivist’s Desk
Ms. Downing reported that Northampton Cooperative Bank has offered Forbes the bank president’s former desk and Ms. Nelson has decided that it would be more comfortable and functional than the desk she currently uses which was the one picked out by Grace Coolidge for the office. Forbes would like to offer Ms. Nelson’s current desk to another non-profit organization to make room for this change.

Ms. Hess made a motion to offer Ms. Nelson’s current desk to another non-profit organization. Mr. Twarog seconded the motion, which was passed unanimously.

Ms. Enz left the meeting at 5:30 PM.

Fantastic Friends Award Nomination
Ms. Hess nominated Friends of Forbes Library for a Fantastic Friends Award for their annual wine tasting benefit. A copy of the submission written by Ms. Hess was distributed to the Trustees. The award will be announced sometime next month. Mr. Carrier thanked Ms. Hess for making the nomination.

Windows/HVAC Project Update
Ms. Downing reported that the HVAC portion of the Capital Improvements approved plan was rebid because the initial bid process was unsuccessful. The final bid opening for this round was on September 19. Ms. Downing said there was only one bid, and it was $87,000 higher than anticipated. Ms. Downing said that $600,000 was approved by the capital improvements committee for the Forbes window replacement and HVAC project, but the bids have come in higher than expected. It can either be re-bid, or brought back to the capital improvements committee to ask for more money. At this point, the soonest the project could happen is next spring.

Franklin Hampshire Career Center Satellite
Ms. Downing reported that the Northampton office of the Franklin Hampshire Career Center was forced to close in late August due to federal budget cuts. Forbes Library is hosting weekly sessions of some of the center’s services in a pilot project for the next six months. Forbes has received notes of gratitude from the public and the Daily Hampshire Gazette for offering space to this critical community service. A handout detailing the scope of services that the Career Center offers as well as their September calendar of events at Forbes were distributed to the Trustees. Ms. Downing said the program has some overlap with existing patrons, but is also bringing in new faces. There are plans to expand the workshops to include more general technology skills, which will be open to everyone. Ms. Downing said the center’s events are listed on the Forbes calendar and on signage in the building. Ms. Downing said that a four-month check-in will be made to assess room use patterns and both positive and negative impacts.

Public Shade Tree Hearing
Ms. Downing reported that there was a public shade tree hearing with Northampton Tree Warden, Richard Parasiliti. While no one is happy about the need for the trees to come down, most are happy that they will be replanted and restored to the original number of thirteen. Mr. Parasiliti will keep the library apprised of the timeline. It is expected they will come down in October and replanted with scarlet oaks in late October or early November. Within twenty years, it is expected that the trees will provide shade. Ms. Downing said that she is planning a celebration for the trees, and is looking into ways of using some of the wood from the largest tree in tribute. In response to a question from Ms. Hess, Ms. Downing said the city is paying for the tree removal. There are other trees on the library property that need work, and the city has authorized up to $17,000 for the work.

Failed HVAC Component
Ms. Downing reported that one of the components of the library’s air conditioning system failed last month. In consultation with Central Services staff, Rene L. Cote HVAC Contractors was hired to replace the unit, which has been partially completed to date. The process of working with the City to address this repair under the guidelines set forth by our new Agreement has been very successful. The cost for the repair is $5,575, which the city has agreed to pay.

Fire Alarm System Upgrade
Ms. Downing reported that the contract for the new Fire Alarm System Upgrade has been signed by the Mayor and has now been submitted to I.R.S. who has been selected to do the work. It is hoped that this project will start very soon because there have been several issues with the old system over the summer.

Broadband/Wireless Upgrade
Ms. Moss reported that she met with Antonio Pagán to discuss the logistics of connecting the library to the city’s municipal broadband. We are hoping for a seamless switchover in mid-October. The current wireless contract with CWMARS expires in December, and the new system should be in place well before then. This new connection will be significantly faster, while still allowing Forbes to have separate patron and staff sides of the network. The new network will also increase coverage within the building and simplify use and management.

Community Engagement
Ms. Moss reported that Forbes Library hosted a group of three chalk artists participating in the eighth Annual Northampton Chalk Art Festival. The drawing was done on the sidewalk outside of the Children’s and Young Adult Department entrance and lasted almost a week due to dry weather. Ms. Moss also submitted a list of recent community engagement activities.

There was an informative and enjoyable discussion about libraries and the support they receive from state agencies, as well as the unique needs of libraries in Western Mass.
